Why does GRNSW need your personal information?

In this Privacy Policy, personal information is any information that could identify you or be used to establish your identity. This may include information or an opinion about you.

The kinds of personal information GRNSW may collect about you include your name, gender, date of birth, address, telephone numbers, employment history, licence history, occupation, and any other information GRNSW may need to identify you.

GRNSW will only collect health information from you with your prior consent.

GRNSW and GWIC collect personal information for the purposes of assessing your application for registration and for use in connection with the regulation of greyhound racing in New South Wales and other jurisdictions. GRNSW may also collect your personal information for the purposes of direct marketing and managing its relationship with an individual, for example in order to provide a subscription service such as the provision of race form and racing news, together with the issuing of Race Field Information Use Approvals to wagering operators operating on NSW greyhound race tracks. From time to time GRNSW may offer an individual other products and services (see section 'Will my personal information be used for Direct Marketing?').

In addition, some laws require GRNSW to collect personal information, these include the Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorism Financing Act 2006 (Cth) and the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth).

GRNSW may also collect information for the purpose of the disclosures set out below (see section 'Who does GRNSW share personal information with?').

What happens if I do not provide information that has been requested?

It's your choice whether to provide your personal information. However, if you don't, GRNSW may be unable to fulfil your request for a specific product or service or may not be able to identify you to protect you against fraud.

Will my personal information be used for direct marketing?

GRNSW may also use and disclose your personal information to keep you informed about matters you may find of interest, changes to GRNSW's organisation, or new products or services being offered by GRNSW or any company with which GRNSW is associated.

You can opt-out of receiving direct marketing information from GRNSW at any time. You may decline to receive such information by telephoning GRNSW on (02) 8324 7600 or by writing to GRNSW at PO Box 698 Darlinghurst NSW 1300 or by emailing privacy@grnsw.com.au. If the direct marketing is by email you may also use the "unsubscribe" function. GRNSW will not charge an individual for giving effect to your lawful privacy request and will take all reasonable steps to meet your request at the earliest possible opportunity.

What types of personal information does GRNSW collect?

GRNSW may ask for a range of personal information to assist it in providing you with relevant products and services. The information GRNSW may request includes (but may not be limited to) name, address, date of birth, contact details, income, assets and liabilities, account balances, bank account details, tax and financial statements, health information, employment details, domicile and citizenship status.

Does GRNSW collect sensitive information?

GRNSW sometimes needs to collect and use sensitive information. GRNSW will only collect sensitive information about you with your consent. Sensitive information is personal information that includes information relating to an individual's:

- memberships in trade or professional associations or trade unions;
- criminal record; or
- medical history.

Sensitive information may be sought for registration applications and / or investigations into suspected breaches of the GRNSW Rules in the following categories of licence:

The Australian Privacy Principles set out restrictions about the way sensitive information can be used.

Unless you give GRNSW your consent, or if GRNSW is required or permitted by law, GRNSW will only use or disclose sensitive information for the purposes for which it was provided.

How does GRNSW collect personal information?

Where reasonable and practical GRNSW will collect personal information directly from you, usually by means of a standard form for the particular category of licence, registration or subscription, or by recording information you provide via telephone calls, interviews and other forms of communication such as CCTV footage and Wi-Fi in GRNSW offices, race tracks, GRNSW websites (including portals and databases such as 'MyOzChase' or and mobile device applications (see section Privacy and the Internet for more information).

GRNSW may also collect personal information from external sources. Examples of the people or organisations who may provide GRNSW with information are:

Personal information may also be collected from the NSW Police with the written consent of the applicant. GRNSW may also collect your personal information from overseas or interstate racing authorities.

Can you remain anonymous or use a pseudonym when dealing with GRNSW?

In most circumstances it will be necessary for GRNSW to identify you in order to successfully do business with you, however, where it is lawful and practicable to do so, GRNSW will offer you the opportunity of doing business with it without providing GRNSW with personal information, for example, if you make general inquiries.

However, in many cases it will be impracticable for GRNSW to assist you if you wish to remain anonymous or use a pseudonym. For example, GRNSW is not permitted to issue a licence to a person without first collecting their personal information. Also, the provision of many services is personalised, with the quality and scope of advice dependent on individual circumstances. Because of this, if you choose not to identify yourself or wish to use a pseudonym, GRNSW may be unable to provide you with the specific product or service you want. It may also affect GRNSW's ability to properly analyse your personal circumstances.

How does GRNSW update personal information?

GRNSW realises that your personal information changes frequently. It is important to GRNSW that the personal information GRNSW holds about you is accurate and up to date. During the course of GRNSW's relationship with you, GRNSW may ask you to inform GRNSW if any of your personal information has changed.

In most cases you can alter your details over the telephone. GRNSW will generally rely on you to ensure the information it holds is accurate or complete. If GRNSW believes the information it holds is incomplete or out of date, GRNSW may also seek to correct or complete GRNSW's records by gathering data from other sources such as public records and other organisations.

How do you access and correct personal information?

Under the Privacy Act you have the right to access the personal information GRNSW holds about you, with some exceptions. You may request access to any of the personal information GRNSW holds about you at any time.

Depending on the type of request that you make, GRNSW may respond to your request immediately. Otherwise GRNSW usually responds within seven days of receiving a request. GRNSW may need to contact other entities to properly investigate a request.

There may be situations where GRNSW is not required to provide you with access to personal information, for example:

- giving access would have an unreasonable impact on the privacy of other individuals;
- giving access would be unlawful as the information relates to existing or anticipated legal proceedings, or where denying access is required or authorised by an Australian law or court order;
- giving access is likely to interfere with law enforcement activities;
- the request is vexatious; or
- both of the following apply:
  - (i) GRNSW has reason to suspect that unlawful activity, or misconduct of a serious nature, that relates to GRNSW's functions or activities has been, is being or may be engaged in; and
  - (ii) giving access would be likely to prejudice the taking of appropriate action in relation to the matter.

GRNSW will provide you with an explanation if GRNSW denies access to the personal information it holds about you.

If any of the personal information GRNSW holds about you is incorrect, inaccurate or out of date you may request that GRNSW correct the information by telephoning GRNSW on (02) 8324 7600 or by writing to GRNSW at PO Box 698 Darlinghurst NSW 1300 or by email to privacy@grnsw.com.au.

If appropriate GRNSW will correct the personal information at the time of the request, otherwise GRNSW will provide an initial response to you within seven days of receiving a request. Where reasonable, and after investigation, GRNSW will provide you with details about whether GRNSW has corrected the personal information within 30 days.

GRNSW may need to consult with other entities as part of an investigation.

Where applicable, before providing the requested information GRNSW will give you an estimate of any potential costs associated with this, including expenses for locating, retrieving, reviewing and copying any of the material you need.

If GRNSW refuses to correct personal information, GRNSW will provide reasons for not correcting the information.

How long will GRNSW keep your information?

GRNSW may be legally required to maintain some of your records for a significant period of time. However, once GRNSW believes information is no longer required, GRNSW may remove identifying details or destroy the records entirely.

Using government identifiers

If GRNSW collects government identifiers, such as an individual's tax file number, GRNSW will not use or disclose this information other than as authorised or compelled by law. GRNSW will never use a government identifier in order to identify an individual.

How does GRNSW protect your personal information?
